

Eligibility & Registration Screening

This complimentary AI Workshop is designed for professionals within Financial Services organizations (including banking, insurance and fintech) who hold decision-making or strategic influence roles in technology, operations, or digital transformation.

Submitting the registration form expresses interest in participation and does not constitute a confirmed invitation.

Zitec applies a structured screening process to ensure a high-quality and relevant experience for all attendees. Registrations are evaluated based on objective business criteria, including:

- relevance of the organization and industry to the workshop topic
- role seniority and level of influence
- company size and operational context
- potential for practical application of the discussed solutions
- alignment with Zitec's current program focus markets

Each application is reviewed individually. Eligible participants will be notified within 5 business days regarding their participation status.

Zitec is committed to a fair and impartial selection process. Applications are assessed exclusively on professional and business relevance, without consideration of any characteristics protected under applicable law.

Zitec reserves the right to limit participation per organization, as well as to reschedule or cancel the workshop if necessary to maintain the intended experience quality.
